

3.4 - Macbeth and Lady Macbeth host a party. Banquo appears as a ghost - the invited guest

Audience

Will Macbeth discover that Fleance has escaped?
What will he do when he finds out the news?
Who will tell him the news?
Are we going to see him murder anyone else?

Setting

Location: Macbeths' castle

Conditions: This is the first party given by the King and Queen. The castle will be full of guest, cooks and servants.

Time: Macbeth in 3.3 tells Banquo the time the party will start Night till seven at night (3.3:41)

Space: This is the King's space – You know your own degrees, sit down (1)

Character

Status: Macbeth is meant to have the most power but the ghost has the real power.

See: Macbeth sees his dead friend. Banquo see's the man who had him murdered. Lady Macbeth see her husband losing control.

Envy: Macbeth envies Banquo's ability to rise again (78). Banquo envies Macbeth mortal power. Lady Macbeth envies her husband's role as King

Predicament: Macbeth wants to forget his dead friend all he can do is look at him. Banquo wants to protect his child all he can do is intimidate Macbeth. Lady Macbeth wants to take control all she can do is protect her husband

Stakes: Macbeth gain his subjects allegiance/respect. Banquo gain Macbeth's attention. Lady Macbeth gain her husbands sanity

Language

Pre-scene: has Macbeth told her he has got Banquo killed. Who is on the guest list?

Under poem: send/house/tomorrow/sisters/know/good/blood/more/o'er/hand/scanned/sleep/self abuse/use/deed (128:142). Erratic underpoem

Pronoun: Macbeth uses 19 times in this section – becoming preoccupied with what he has done

lambic: We are but young in deed (42) short line reflects the youthfulness of their crimes

Hear: How the language jumps between personal and public

Impact

See: A King at his first feast losing his status to a ghost – they can see his conscience

Remind: of the witches, the floating dagger and now his dead friend

Think: how will he banish the ghost/guilt of Banquo

Feel: afraid for Macbeth – they don't know what could happen next

React: will the ghost rest?
